INSTITUTE PORTAL

Re-activation (for both new and existing users)

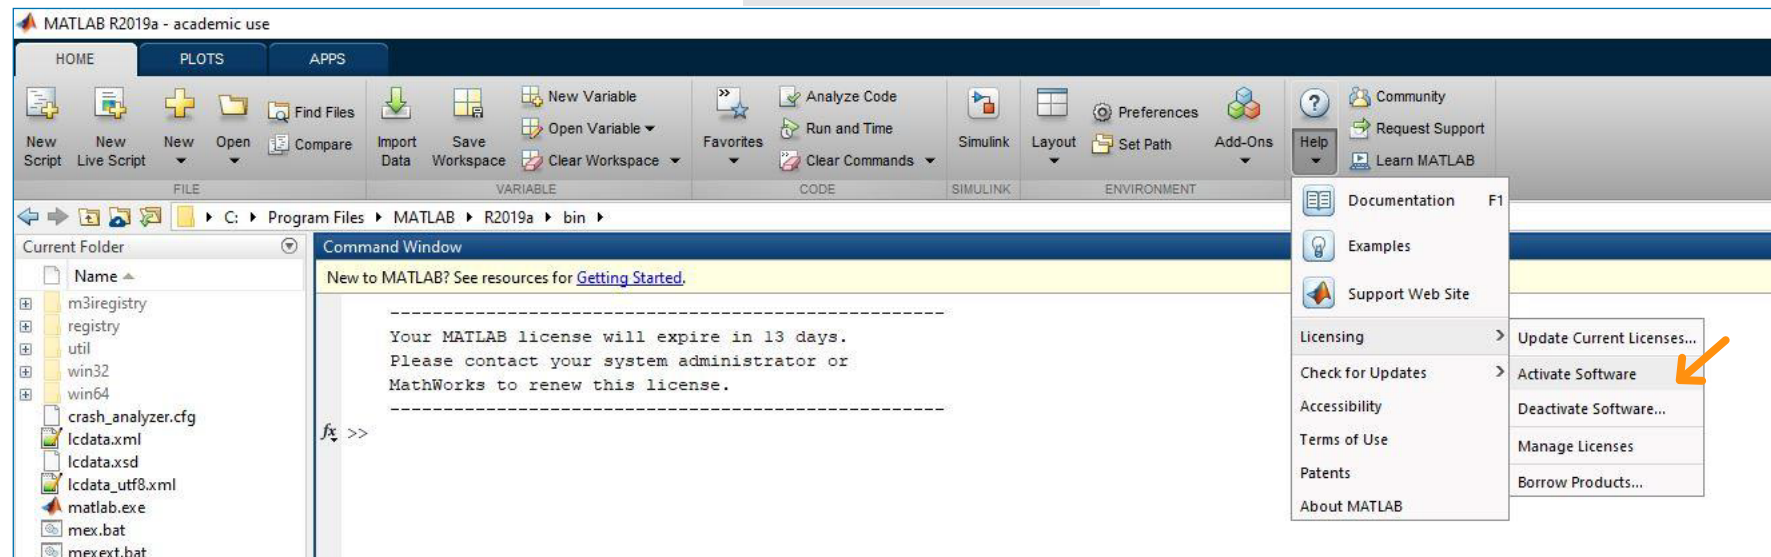

The re-activation is required for users that already have a MATLAB or Simulink installation with the previous licensing mode.

- Every year IIT users have to re-activate their MATLAB installations;
- Users will be reminded of the expiration starting 15 days before the expiration date;
- Users can re-activate their licenses or let them expire; if a user with an expired license tries to launch MATLAB he/she will be automatically redirected to the Activation Client.

Installation/Activation

The Identity Authentication check ensures that only IIT users (i.e. staff, students and employees) are allowed to use MATLAB. Users who have left IIT won't be allowed to renew their MATLAB installation.

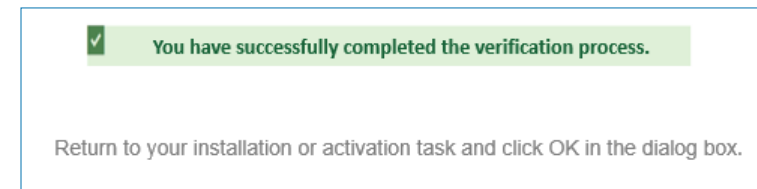

Activation Requires Verification
